DALLAS, July 2, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- Kimberly-Clark announced today that it was named one of the 2021 Best Companies for Multicultural Women by Seramount (formerly Working Mother Media). The award recognizes companies that create and use best practices in hiring, retaining, and promoting multicultural women in the United States.

"The increased participation in this initiative confirms that the importance of retaining and advancing multicultural women is not lost on corporate America," said Subha V. Barry, CEO of Seramount. "By offering programs and implementing policies instrumental to their success, whether it's sponsorship and mentoring programs or tying managers' compensation to diversity goals, our Best Companies for Multicultural Women continue to demonstrate their commitment to this critical talent pool."

Advancing inclusion and diversity is a key business objective for Kimberly-Clark that is embraced and driven by its global leadership. The company has strengthened its recruitment and retention initiatives to build a more diverse talent pipeline and provides inclusive leadership training to help team leaders foster a work environment that welcomes, respects, and values diverse voices and ideas.

Kimberly-Clark elevates this commitment across the organization through ongoing 'Caring Conversations' and an annual Global Inclusion Week – a series of leadership panels, workshops, and small group discussions that are all centered on helping its employees to better understand and activate a culture of inclusion.
